Confidentiality Notice for Parents of Adolescents

- Your child has the right to private, confidential communication with the treatment team providing his or her care. This means that some of the issues that they discuss will stay between them, and that we will not disclose that information to anyone, including you, unless we have been given permission by your child to do so. We need your child to be open and honest with us to understand and treat the full range of issues your child is dealing with. They may be too scared, angry, or ashamed right now to share those issues with you. We also recognize it is very important for you to know what your child is going through to do your job as a parent, which is why we will always encourage your child to be honest with you. We will encourage, prepare and support your child so that they feel safe enough to share those issues with you.
- You should know that this confidentiality has limits. If there is any threat to your child's life, we have the duty to inform you and help to create a plan for safety.
- In addition, there are situations that we are mandated to report and cannot keep confidential. Those situations include: threats against another person, physical or sexual abuse, and neglect.
- Finally, we recognize how challenging it can be for a parent to raise a child, especially when the child has a mental illness. We know how badly you might want to know everything your child has kept a secret from you, too. We want to be your partner in supporting your child's physical and mental wellbeing, and even when we can't discuss certain details about your child with you, we will always be there for you: guiding you and giving your child the best advice possible to protect him/her and encourage healthy decisions, including being open and honest with you.

Informed Consent & Permission for Treatment

Please review the information provided below. Your signature will indicate that you understand and accept the information contained in the Informed Consent Information and Permission for Treatment.

Therapeutic Services:

At Mental Health & Wellness Center, LLC, we believe that the therapeutic process requires your active involvement. Change can be easy and quick, but often it is slow and deliberate; mutual hard work between a therapist and a client is important for success. We also recognize that there are both benefits and risks associated with therapy. Therapy can lead to an improved ability to identify important things about yourself, acquire helpful life management skills, and integrate past and present learning to live a happier and healthier life. Risks of the process might include experiencing uncomfortable levels of sorrow, guilt, anxiety, anger, frustration, or difficulties with other people. Some changes may lead to what seems to be worsening circumstances or even losses. (For example, therapy will not necessarily keep a marriage intact.) While we expect that therapy will be helpful, there is no guarantee of any specific outcome; therefore, it is vital that you discuss any questions or concerns about the process with your therapist at any point during therapy.

Confidentiality:

Mental Health & Wellness Center, LLC respects your legal right to confidentiality. We will work to protect your information and all records will be maintained in a confidential manner. Consent forms will be required for the release of any information except in specific situations. The following are legal and policy exceptions to your right to confidentiality.

- In the case of medical or mental health emergencies
- If we have good reason to believe that you are in imminent danger of harming yourself (for example, suicidal thoughts/behaviors/attempts, severe depression, etc.)
- If we have good reason to believe that you will harm another person (for example, homicidal thoughts/behaviors/attempts, etc.) Please note that the person threatened, and the police will be notified.
- If we have good reason to believe that you are abusing or neglecting a child or vulnerable adult, or if you provide information about someone else who is doing so
- We receive a court order or subpoena directing the release of information or testimony in a court proceeding
- Any litigation is initiated by you/your family related to treatment or complaints
- Inappropriate behavior concerning another named health/mental health care provider is reported (for example, that this person has either a. engaged in sexual contact with a patient, including yourself or b. is impaired with providing treatment in some manner by cognitive, emotional, behavioral, or health problems) Please note that the law requires that we report this to their licensing board. Also note that if you are a client and a health care provider, however, your confidentiality remains protected under the law from this kind of reporting.
- If a third party, such as an insurance company or an EAP provider, is paying for part of your bill (We may be required to provide information, including a diagnosis to that third party to receive payment.)
- If your therapy is being paid for in full or in part by a managed care firm (There are usually further limitations to your rights as a client imposed by the contract of the managed care firm. These may include their decision to limit the number of sessions available to you, to decide the approved amount of time within which you must complete your therapy, or to require you to use medication if their reviewing professional deems it appropriate. They may also decide that you must see another therapist in their network, if we are not on their list. Such firms also usually require some sort of detailed reports of your progress in therapy on a regular basis, and on occasion, copies of your case file.)
- Appointment reminders, if you choose to receive those, could be intercepted and may not be private.
- In the event of a client's death, the spouse or parents of a deceased client have a right to access their child's or spouse's records.

Informed Consent & Permission for Treatment

- Legal guardians have the right to request records. Please note that this is not advisable during treatment.
- If you and your partner decide to have some individual sessions as part of the couples therapy, what you say in those individual sessions will be considered part of the couples therapy, and can/probably will be discussed in joint sessions.

Contact After Hours:

In cases of emergency please go to the nearest emergency room or call 911. If you need to make an appointment call the office phone number and leave a message. If you need to reach your therapist between sessions by phone for a phone therapy session, you will be charged at a rate of 25.00 per 15 minutes, which may not be reimbursable by insurance.

Termination of Treatment:

You normally will be the one who decides therapy will end, with three exceptions. 1.) If we have contracted for a specific short-term piece of work, 2.) It is our judgment that we are unable to meet your mental health needs, specifically due to the kind of treatment needs you have or because we feel our training and skills are not beneficial in your treatment, 3.) If you are violent, threatening, or harassing toward the staff, customers, and/or family member of this practice (In this case we reserve the right to terminate you unilaterally and immediately from treatment.)

Other Services:

- FMLA and/or disability documentation will not be provided unless otherwise pre-authorized by Mental Health & Wellness Center, LLC
- Mental Health & Wellness Center, LLC, does not perform custody evaluations

The requesting parties will be charged for copies of documents needed for court at $0.45/page and any parking fees as well. The billing department will assist you in submitting your insurance forms and resolving any problems with payments. However, if, your insurance company does not pay the anticipated amount, you are still responsible for the total amount of the bill. Please be aware that insurance benefits quoted by your insurance company are not a guarantee of payment. Ultimately, it is your responsibility to know the benefits of your policy and any changes that may arise are your responsibility.
